Montevideo, May 7th.

I wrote that Uruguay was negotiating an extradition treaty with Chile—not an extraordinary treaty.

In regard to the conflict between the Charity Committee and the Government, the latter will remove the whole committee and replace it by another composed chiefly of the same persons whom Government had wished to add to the original committee.

Young Beisso, who accompanies his father to Europe, has been made an honorary Secretary of the Uruguayan Legation in London, in order to facilitate his journeyings about Europe.

In Europe complaints are often made about the abuse on the part of South American Republics, which flood the Capitals of the old world with secretaries of legation.

Beisso here has received instructions to see Glynn, Mills, Currie and Co., financial agents of Uruguay in London, with a view to placing part of the new war-loan of four millions on that market.

Sr. Errazuriz, Chilian Minister to Brazil, is expected here in the Iberia from the West Coast.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has published an official notice recognizing Mr. Thornton as Chargé d'Affaires of the British Legation during the absence of Minister Baring.

The American Vice-Consul and Mrs. Howard have issued invitations to a banquet in honor of Sr. Gondra, Paraguayan Minister.

The French monks of Calle Dayman have issued invatations to a funeral service in their church in memory of the persons burned in the recent fire at a charity baazar in Paris.

A newspaper of San Fructuoso states that General Villar with his army arrived at that town on the fifth by special trains. There were seven thousand troops of the three arms, and a very large number of horses. The appearance and discipline of the men were admirable. After resting two days they continued their march towards the frontier.

The P.O. authorities are constructing a kiosk on the mole for the service of the post up to the last moment.

It is denied that the Sra. Flores burned in Paris is the daughter of the late Sr. Mendeville of this city.

Col. Silveira has been appointed by General Vasquez chief of his escort.

Reports in regard to the revolution emanating from Blanco Committee in your city should be taken "cum grano salis."

LATER.

A very long official bulletin just issued; greater part of it is taken up by telegram from Buenos Aires from Minister Frias with Nacion's interview with Nuñez.

The Blancos try to turn bulletin into ridicule and maintain that rebels are everywhere victorious, nevertheless the bulletin has produced great effect on population. At all events we see that Nuñez is in B. Ayres alive and kicking vigorously, and not lying with his throat cut on the frontier, as the Blancos reported. The following is the gist of the official bulletin referred to.

There is absolutely no foundation for the rumours recently circulated in reference to important engagements fought between the Government and rebel forces.

The Government has received despatches from Generals Vasquez, Villar, Arribio, Rodriguez and Muñoz. Lamas and Saraiva, with reason fearing to meet the forces of the Government, are constantly on the move and endeavour in every way to avoid fighting, but the concentration of the legal forces will compel them to give battle or to disband their troops.

The revolutionists have received neither reinforcements nor supplies of ammunition.

Deserters from the Blanco ranks continue to arrive in Florida, Canelones, San José and other departments, anxious to avail themselves of the free pardon offered by the Government to all who return to their peaceful occupations. According to despatches received yesterday more than 100 men have already surrendered themselves; our Consuls in Rio Grande report that many emigrants have also sought from them free passes to return their homes.

It is reported that once Lamas gets out of his present difficult position he will challenge Nuñez to a duel.

Stand-by-O'Gorman.

THE WAR.

The Greeks evacuate Volo.

Turkish opinion of Greek defence.

The Sultan willing to negotiate for Peace.

Death of the Duc D'Aumale.

Riot in Austrian Chamber.

Paris, 7th—The latest telegrams from Zucco state that the Duc D'Aumale died from an affection of the heart produced by the tragic death of the Duchess of Alençon. Princess Marie Clementine, of Orleans, widow of the Prince Augustus Sax Coburg Gotha was by the bedside of her brother when he died. It appears that His Grace had been suffering from his heart and the doctors advised him to go to Sicily. His death has created a very painful impression here.

Constantinople, 7th — Telegrams received from the seat of war, giving an account of the brilliant victories obtained by Turks over Greeks at Pharsalia and Velestino, have given rise to much rejoicing here. Marshal Edhem Pacha in in his official despatches, states that the Albanese who form in the ranks of his army fight very bravely.

Vienna, 7th—Telegrams from Larissa state that the Turks have already taken Volo, which the Greeks had hurriedly evacuated last night on knowing that their companions had suffered defeat in Velestino. A brigade of Turkish troops now occupies that position.

Paris, 17th—The Czar has sent to M. Faure a telegram testifying to the profound emotion caused in his own mind and that of the Czarina by the news of the catastrophe in the Rue Jean Goujon. Telegrams expressing condolence were also received to-day from the Sultan of Turkey, King Oscar of Sweden, King Charles of Roumania and General Porfirio Diaz the President of the Mexican Republic, Prince Radziwill in representation of the Emperor William of Germany visited to-day M. Hanotaux, to express his Majesty's sincere regret at what happened on Tuesday last

Rome, 7th—The President of the Chamber of Deputies has sent to his colleague in the French Chamber, in the name of the Italian Parliament, a telegram conceived in affectionate terms and expressing the grief felt by all Italy on hearing of the accident which has plunged France into mourning.

Constantinople, 7th—In the Ministry of War it is said that the Turkish loss was only 250 in killed and wounded in the actions fought before Pharsalus. The Ottoman troops captured a battery of field artillery, a large quantity of military stores and also some personal effects belonging to the Princes Nicholas and Constantine. The despatches received from Edhem Pachá represent as very heavy indeed the losses sustained by the Greek army.

Athens, 7th—The Greek Government has officially notified all the Powers of the blockade of the Thermayan Gulf and of the Turkish coasts of Epirus.

Paris, 7th—Telegrams from Athens report that part of the Greeks, who fought in Pharsalia under Prince Constantine and those in Velestina arrived this afternoon at Almyro which they are fortifying. They retreated in good order to their present position and did not as falsely stated abandon part of their artillery in Velestina.

Vienna, 7th—The Austrian Chamber of Deputies to-day began the discussion of a proposal made by several of its members asking that the Badini Cabinet be impeached for frauds committed during the recent elections! The discussion gave rise to a fearful uproar, and several Deputies came to blows. The President was finally obliged to close the sitting.

London, 7th—The Turkish Government has sent a favourable answer to the indications of the Great Powers in reference to their offers of mediation to end the war. Negotiations will it is expected be shortly opened between both belligerents.

Paris, 7th—A telegram from Zucco (Sicily) announces that the Duc d'Aumale has died suddenly. Death was caused by the shock he received by the news of the death of the Duchess of Alençon in the recent fire.

Athens, 7th—Although it is known that Colonel Smolenski retreated on Almyros after the defeat at Velestina and the evacuation of Volo, no news has yet been received here of his arrival at that place. A torpedo boat has been despatched up the West coast of the Gulf of Volo for news. Great anxiety prevails here.

Athens, 7th—The Greek fleet of the East yesterday bombarded the Turkish encampment of Kassandra in Macedonia.

Rome, 7th—A telegram from Zeilah states that General Albertone has embarked there for Massouah with 5 officers and 215 Italian soldiers held as prisoners of war by King Menelik.

(To the 'Diario')

London, 7th—I have interviewed several Directors and managers of banks as to what they think of Argentine finances now, and this is what they told me. They trust that the National Government will promptly and satisfactorily settle the provincial debts, giving the holders 4 per cent National Bonds. They consider resumed full payment of interest and amortization on the National Debt as already an accomplished fact, and that there is every ground for confidence in Argentine securities; so it may fairly be presumed that more English capital wil henceforward go into Argentine Bonds, and the various public enterprises in the country.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

(Received after Midnight.)

London, 7th—The House of Commons rejected to-night by a majority of 103 votes a motion brought forward by Mr. W. Snowden Hobson, Liberal member for South Shields, proposing that the official salary of Lord Salisbury should be reduced as a token of the disapproval felt by the country of his foreign policy, specially on the Eastern Question. Mr. Curzon had previously answered Mr. Robson by the assertion that the preservation of the European concert was the only means to ensure the Peace of Europe.

Constantinople, 7th—The despatches just received from Pharsalus state that the commanders of the Turkish army, which now occupy the fortifications, feel surprised that the Greeks did not make a better defence, as the works are so strong that, properly defended, they should have proved almost impregnable.

A speedy and definite triumph of the National arms is here confidently expected.

Vienna, 7th—A telegram received from Velastina reports the arrival there of Edhem Pacha. Commander-in-Chief of the invading Turkish armies, accompanied by his staff. The Pacha expresses himself highly satisfied with the result of the campaign.

Athens, 8th—Col. Vassos is expected here from Crete at dawn. The Press says that both the Greek Government and people are resolved to fight to the death and without quarter rather than consent to the withdrawal of the Greek forces from Crete which has been reconquered by Greece.

THE OPENING OF CONGRESS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

This important ceremony took place yesterday with the usual eclat and military display. The day was fine, the troops looked very well, the sovereign people filled the Plaza, and the official world filled the Hall of Congress. Most of the members of the Diplomatic Corps were present. Amid breathless silence, President Uriburu stood up and read out the following message:—

Senators and Deputies:

You are about to resume your legislative duties and it is my happy privilege to open the session. You will find the country in the enjoyment of peace and in those conditions necessary for the development of its various resources. The progress realized reveals an effort fertilised by the stability of ideas.

Our relations with the foreign states of America and Europe are on the best footing of friendly reciprocity. Nothing has occurred to disturb these relations. The demarcation of our limits with Chile has been prosecuted with regularity; the new land-marks placed have been approved by the experts. On this subject I refer you to the report of the Foreign Office. We have no reason to fear any change in the friendly spirit which animates the two Governments in the carrying out of the demarcation. Nor have we any reason to think that any difficulty will crop up, in view of the conciliatory feelings of the two Governments. The loyal carrying out of the treaties shews that the two nations are acting in harmony.

The demarcation of our limits with Bolivia have also been pushed forward.

The outbreak of a revolution in the Republic of Uruguay forced us to adopt measures to prevent hostilities from this side of the river. Owing, however, to the proximity of the river's banks, it was found impossible in some cases to prevent armed expeditions from eluding our vigilance and landing on the other side. The Uruguayan Government deemed it advisable to send General Tajes, ex-president of the Republic, on a special mission to us. The result of this visit has been to strengthen the ties of friendship that bind us to the Banda Oriental and, moreover to dispel certain misapprehensions arising from the excited patriotism of our fellow citizens. During General Tajes's visit the gunboat Artigas, seized by the revolutionists, was brought to Zarate. We at once considered it our duty to deliver the vessel to the Uruguayan Government, its rightful owner. We simply followed the precedents of other nations.

We have signed with Brazil a treaty for the extradition of criminals.

Our foreign commerce during the year 1896 is represented by $112,163,591 gold, imports and $116,753,095 gold, exports of goods, showing a difference of $4,589,504 gold in favour of exports. The increased import of coin agrees with these figures, its import being represented by a sum of $6,063,345 while the export has been $2,178,891. The total import and export movement amounts to $237,158,922 gold, which is $18,516,939 gold more than in 1895. This excess is principally due to the increase of $18,640,736 gold in imports. The result therefore is that the country has been able to pay its increased consumption as also a great part of the Extraordinary Expenses without affecting the rate of exchange at home or abroad. The foreign rate of exchange has always been in favour of the country, oscillating between the minimum rate of (47 11/16) and the maximum of 48 % on England and (5.005) to 5.10 on France. The quotation of gold has oscillated between 265 % and 332.50 % the average rate of the highest and lowest price in cash transactions during the year being (296/247)%. In 1895 that average price was (343/621%) which proves that our circulating medium is gradually regaining its value through the action of labour and National Economy.

The movement of coin in cash down transactions has exceeded by $15,000,000 gold that in 1895, confirming the great development of commerce.

During the first three months of the present year the export of products was $40,706,982 gold, against $38,983,101 gold in 1896, thus showing a balance of $1,723,881 gold in favour of the present year.

Imports have been $29,045,105 gold against 27,825,273 gold in 1896, The difference in favour of exports during the first quarter is $11,661,877 gold.

This shews that, far from the uneasiness which was feared as a consequence of the damage caused by the plague of locusts, the country has been compensated by the increase of prices or quantity of other products of exportation. We can thus presume that the value of our exports during the whole of 1897 will not be less than in 1896.

During the same quarterly period the exchange market has been favourable to the country, oscillating between the minimum of 47⅞ and the maximum of 48⅛ on England. It is to be hoped that exchange will continue favourable during the rest of the year, as, apart from there being a considerable stock of wool and other exportable products, Government has resources in Europe which allow of it meeting its obligations abroad without any necessity of taking exchange until next spring, when there is usually an abundance of bills.

The quotation of gold during the same period has varied between the minimum of 282,80%, and the maximum of 317%, whilst during the first quarter of 1895 it oscillated between 297.50 and 332.50.

The foreign shipping movement during the year 1896 was 7,791 steamers and 4039 sailing vessels, with a tonnage of 7,115,467 tons, whilst during the year 1895 7496 steamers and 3381 sailing vessels with a tonnage of 6,247,101 entered port. It will thus be seen that the movement has increased 11 ½ % as compared with 1895.

The number of vessels which left in 1895 was 10,116, with an aggregate tonnage of 7,014,352, and in 1896 12,329, with a tonnage of 8,093,386.

In the first quarter of this year the entries of vessels numbered 2552 with a tonnage of 1,484,346; the departures having been 2724 representing a tonnage of 1,725,216.

The coast craft movement last year was 24,316 vessels entered and 23,385 sailed, representing respectrvely 5,044,051 and 3,824,712.

In 1895 the entries were 24,329, tonnage 4,392,260, and the departures 22,687, tonnage 3,091,281. The total tonnage of entries and departures in 1896 was 8,868,763, that is 18% more than in the preceding year.

The exports of live stock have been on the increase since 1894. In 1895, 96,779 steers and 307,976 wethers were exported against 116,439 and 321,196 last year.

The revenue collected last year was $32,127,000 gold and $34,237,000 paper against $29,805,000 gold and $28,958,000 paper in 1895.

The expenditure (ordinary) in 1896 amounted to $79,164,000 paper and $14,370,000 gold, and the Special Laws expenditure was $13,060,000 paper and $15,020,000 gold—making a total of $92,224,000 paper and $29,390,000 gold.

The bonds of consolidated home debt issued in 1896 amounted to $1,174,911, which, added to previous emissions, made a total of $7,730,579.

During the first quarter of the current year, the revenue collected amounted to $9,055,078 gold and $9,680,638 paper, which does not include the $2,300,000 delivered by the National Bank, nor the sums yielded by the railways, nor other amounts which will be added to the revenue later on.

The service of the Public Consolidated Debt, home and foreign, has been paid with punctuality, also the credits obtained in Europe in 1895, the most important of which—10 million marks—will be wholly paid off on the 20th of this month.

The Caja de Conversion has performed its duties regularly and attended to the renewal of notes presented by the banks and the public.

The circulation of notes on Dec. 31 1896, amounted to $285,115,957 plus the minor or fractionary issue, and the $427,000 in nickel coin, making a total of $295,165,957. On the 31st of March the circulation was the same, but the nickel coin circulation was $960,208 a sum much in excess of requirements, and which constitute a debt, to amortize which we must devote the funds at our disposal, while at the same time we might form a metallic reserve.

The National Bank, which issued the third part of that sum, must contribute towards the redemption with whatever, sums it may have over, after paying its creditors. You would do well therefore to revise the laws dealing with the liquidation of the Bank, so that the Board may be in a better position to attend to this amortization. With this end in view, I have endeavoured to prevent the issue of the 12 million Bond authorized by you and limited myself to the use of the surplus left in the Bank after fulfilling its engagements toward its private creditors.

The Bank of the Nation has continued to do valuable service through its numerous branches, which are increasing, as well as through the head house. Its net profits in 1896 amounted to $2,897,732.

The Mortgage Bank meets its engagements regularly. During 1896 the remainder of Series F was placed, and the Bank has begun to make advances in the issue authorized by the Law of 19th January of the current year. Experience shews that its charter requires to be altered. Some reforms were made in 1891. A bill on this subject will be duly submitted to you.

The universal movement in the revision and modification of Customs Tariffs imposes on us the urgent task of studying our international commercial relations, in order to seek solutions to bring our interests into harmony with those of other nations that contribute powerfully to interchange.

The proposed modifications in the U. States tariff—affecting our principal products—have compelled us to place ourselves in communication with the Washington Foreign Office. We may be constrained thereby to revise our own tariff. Nevertheless, we hope that an elevated spirit of equity and of well understood interest will contribute to avoid extreme measures of reprisal.

In view of the vote in the Budget, sanctioning the payment of full interest on the national debt one year before the term agreed with the creditors, a special study had to be made as to the state of the country's finances, fixing all its debts and sources of revenue, in order to frame some reliable plan for the financial working of this and next year. The heavy burden incurred by extraordinary expenses for war material did not tend to facilitate the policy of full interest payments, but, since you sanctioned the measure, and in strict accordance with my declarations through the medium of the respective Minister, I did not hesitate a moment in the adoption of a policy that may cost us some sacrifice, but is a guarantee of the faithful execution of the programme you approved. I, therefore, on the 27th of last March, issued a decree regulating the payments according to your wishes, communicating the fact to the Argentine Minister in England, who informed Lord Rothschild, Chairman of our Bondholders' Committee: the latter congratulated my Government on the decision.

Our bonds in Europe rose immediately five points in a firm and steady advance, which continues up to date, and will, no doubt, continue as the conviction grows that we are able to meet all our solemn engagements. It is no easy task, without resorting to paper issues or foreign loans, to wind up and pay all the floating debt and bills running in the market, meeting the full service on the Consolidated Debt, Internal and External, wipe out all the balances that we owe on account of war material, and at the same time cover the ordinary expenditure of the Budget and the extraordinary expenses that must be met in 1897 and 1898. Such a task might appear ideal, but it is feasible in my opinion, if we observe the most stringent economy, collect the revenue with care, and put all the government offices in order. In this patriotic effort I am confident that I can rely upon your energetic cooperation. I have resolved to suppress or reduce in this year's Budget all those expenses that are not indispensable: I have made the same resolve regarding special votes not included in the Budget.

Whilst on this subject, I beg to impress upon you the necessity of repealing all those special votes that are to be met out of ordinary revenue, and to include in next year's Budget the funds required to meet other votes. It is only in this fashion that we can balance the Budget, and make it what it should be—public, precise, and one: without these attributes you can expect no order, no foresight in the financial working of the country. I shall cooperate towards this desideratum within my sphere in submitting to you my Budget Bill for next year, a document that will be laid on your table next month with the Report of the Finance Office.

No doubt there is nothing attractive in this humble plan of stringent economies, of rigorous order in the government, stripped of all the brilliancy of expenditure in public works or new enterprises—all efforts centred in drawing up an inventory of assets and controlling expenses. But circumstances force this task upon us, and to its execution I shall devote all my energy and industry, since I cannot alter the situation in which I govern. This, my mission, I am convinced, will be of some benefit to the country, which means that every man must do his duty, whether governors or governed, in the social work of developing to their full degree all the exuberant powers of the republic. With one Budget, one Treasury, and one well-organized Accountancy, I expect to establish the indispensable basis on which to frame a financial programme.

The country does it share of the common task; you see that, in spite of the plagues that have afflicted the farmers, the national production shews no shrinkage.

Let Order, Economy, Work be our watchword, and we shall soon conquer the great prosperity that is our destination. With ample guarantees for individual and collective rights, with peace at home and with our neighbours, immigration and the flow of foreign capital to our shores will increase and will build up our progress on a more beneficial basis than even Government stimulus in public works, the burden of which is thrown on future generations in the shape of new loans.

My chief ambition, already partly realized, is to pay off all the extraordinary expenditure (which we had to incur owing to peculiar circumstances) out of our ordinary revenue, thus finally establishing our undoubted financial power and raising our credit to its former high level.

THE URUGUAYAN REVOLUTION.

GENERAL VILLAR'S DEFEAT.

The Oriental, a newspaper voicing the wishes and patriotic thoughts of the Blanco Refugees here, somewhat startled the public yesterday by issuing the following bulletin:—

"Concordia, 7th—The news is confirmed of the complete defeat of General Villar by the rebel forces under Lamas and Saravia. The first batallion of Casadores was almost exterminated. Several pieces of artillery were captured. The Blancos took many prisoners and a large quantity of ammunition. Villar's forces fled and were pursued during 20 hours.

Montevideo, 7th—Confirmation has been received of the defeat of General Villar. He lost all his artillery, and many prisoners were taken. Government very reticent.

Colonia, 7th—Official advices received here confirm news of defeat of General Villar, in Dept. of Paysandú.

Concepcion, 7th—Villar was completely routed at Corrales.

Even making allowance for the exaggeration inseparable from rebel accounts, there would appear to be no doubt that a fight has taken place and that Villar was compelled to retreat. We rely upon our correspondent Stand-by O'Gorman to send us the facts of the case.

SCIENCE NOTES

THE "TRISTEZA" AND THE "GARRAPATA"

My previous article on carbuncle appears, from several intimations I have received, to have been read with interest by many camp readers of the STANDARD, I feel confident therefore that the following observations will be, not only to a large extent new to many, but of interest to all who are occupied in the rearing of cattle.

The terms 'tristeza,' 'grano malo', and 'mancha' are applied by men in the camd indiscriminately to diseases which have certain symptoms in common, such as the swelling of the body after death and blood stains on the internal organs. There are at least three distinct diseases so confounded, namely carbuncle or true 'grano malo' of which I wrote a short time ago, septicemia or blood poisoning from some source other than the 'Bacillus anthracis' which produces carbuncle, and lastly 'tristeza' properly so called which appears to be identical in character with the 'Texas fever' of North America.

It is nearly ten years since in the 'Laboratory for the study of contagious diseases in animals' at that time and until its close under the control of Dr. Roberto Wernicke, that carbuncle and septicemia were studied carefully and described in the 'informe' published by the Doctor in 1888. In this "informe" it is pointed out that some forms of disease were identical with Texas fever, which, says Dr. Wernicke, the Texans were unwilling to recognise as identical with carbuncle.

The unwillingness of the Texans to recognize the identity of Texas fever, or as we call it 'tristeza', with carbuncle has recently been fully justified, as I shall proceed to shew.

Let me, however, make myself perfectly clear. There are in this country two distinct diseases called 'tristeza', one, which is the true carbuncle or anthrax, to which my preceding article referred, and another, which has nothing to do with carbuncle and is identical with Texas fever. The former disease is due to a vegetable organism or Bacillus, the latter to an animal organism or protozoon. The former is terribly contagious, and is capable of being conveyed by germs or spores even from the dead body of the animal. The latter is by no means so easily conveyed and requires, at all events according to the latest opinions, the active intervention of the 'Garrapata' to carry the disease from one animal to another.

It has long been known to microbiologists that the vegetable kingdom is not the only one to which we are indebted for our zymotic and other diseases. The animal kingdom furnishes its fair share of pathogenous organisms, all members of that immense family of one-celled beings, to whom death comes not in the natural course of things, and whose forms are as mutable as those of Proteus of old. These one-celled beings are just on the frontierland of the animal and vegetable kingdoms, although for various reasons they are classed with the former. Of diseases known to be produced by animalcules or protozoa, we have in man, ague or "chuchu" and other forms of malaria due to the "Plasmoduim malariæ," tropical dysentery due to "amœba coli" and very probably small-pox and whooping cough. In the lower animals we find amongst rabbits the "coccidium viforme", which causes great mortality.

It appears also to be established that the mortality in certain districts of Africa among domestic animals, attributed to the bite of the tsetse fly, is not so much due to the bite itself as to a disease-producing animalcule introduced into the blood during the bite, and extracted by the same means, and so transferred from animal to animal.

To return now to our special object in this paper. Texas fever has been shown by Theobald Smith and other bacteriologists, attached to the U. S. Agricultural Department, to be due to a blood parasite belonging to the peotogon and named "Pyrosoma bigeminum," Smith. In this disease the tick, or as we call it garrapata, has been shown to be the intermediate pest of the parasite.

Last year in the Banda Oriental a commission was appointed to study the disease called "tristeza," in that country. This commission consisted of, amongst others, Dr. Heraclio Rivas, who was for some time a colleague of mine in the Argentine Rural Society's laboratory, under Dr. Wernicke's direction, and was "al corriente" with previous investigations. This commission reported that the "tristeza" of the Banda Oriental was not carbuncle, but was due to a blood parasite, introduced into the cattle by the garrapata or tick.

Recently in the Argentine Republic there have been two commissions appointed to study "Tristeza", one by the Government of Santiago del Estero and one by the Rural Society of Santa Fé. The former commission in a report presented by Dr. Martinez states that the "Tristeza" of Santiago del Estero is carbuncle. The latter commission consising of Drs. Even and Sivori, report that the "Tristeza" of Santa Fé is Texas Fever and due to a pearshaped protozoon or animalcule which destroys the red blood capuscles and is only present alongside the 'garrapata.'

Mr. Methven of Entre Rios informs me that in that province there is a saying amongst the "campesinos," "Año de garrapata, año de tristeza."

Tristeza appears during the summer months, especially from November to February and attacks by preference animals removed Northwards from Southern camps. These animals are seized upon by the garrapatas or ticks, which fasten themselves by their rostra and hold on to the poor animals, sucking their blood, until when sexually mature and in a position to lay their eggs, they drop off, and fall to the ground, where their young are hatched. These in their turn climb on to the cattle and sweat their blood.

I an at present studying several forms ot garrapatas I have received, and in a few days shall probably have more to say on this subject. In the meantime let me point out how vitally important it is to distinguish between the two diseases, as, whilst vaccination and the other means advised in my former article are valuable against carbuncle, they will be utterly thrown away upon the tristeza which is specially referred to in this note. For this form of tristeza the best remedy is prevention as giving physic to camp stock is not a very easy procedure.

The best means of prevention is to destroy the "garrapatas", by burning the camp if possible and by getting rid of them on the cattle where the more drastic remedy is not suitable. For this purpose an ointment on a petroleum basis is a good preparation. Benzine and tobacco juice are also recommended.

Cattle should not be moved if possible during the summer months.

I should recommend estancieros who are interested in this subject to obtain and study the two reports I have previously referred to.

A FOREIGNER'S OPINION.

It is sometimes of interest to see ourselves as others see us although often strangers are apt to assume that they are better judges of a foreign country than they are in reality. The following item from a N. York commercial daily of March 18th gives us the opinion of a member of a leading New York Engineering firm, and is part of a letter written after he had been here for some days. It says:—

"This is the most progressive city I have visited in South America; the opportunities for business in our line are very encouraging, and the only thing I shall have to do in order to obtain some of the business which is in prospect is by leaving an agent to represent us here. In the eight days that I have been here, I have given out between three and five estimates per day for different kinds of machinery for special work which is needed. Were I to wait until all the business I have been promised develops I would have to spend three or four months here. This is the urgent reason why a good representative must be left in charge of future transactians. English and German manufacturers do a large direct business with merchants here. They usually give three to six months time for payments for goods, and they send travellers out twice a year. I propose to do my business through export houses in New York, London or Hamburg, letting them take the responsibility for payment to us, allowing them a commision for the guarantee. There are ten horse car lines in operation here, owned by different companies. They have about 235 miles of track, constantly running upwards of 500 cars. There is a talk of changing many of the lines into electric systems. By next mail, I hope to send you some good contracts. In every large mercantile house here English, German and French are spoken."

The idea of doing business through established export houses, in either the States, England or Germany, giving them a commission and letting them assume the responsibility of any credits given to purchasers here, shows that the gentleman referred to is evidently a safe business man. It is a particularly good idea, considering existing conditions, too.

In its issue of March 23rd the same paper quotes "a member of a prominent export firm, recently returned from the Argentine Republic" and he says:—

"The business outlook is encouraging The number of new enterprises in the principal cities throughout the Republic are increasing day by day. The reason why the American merchants do not even hear of many of them is because German and English capital is well represented there. Business is done at three and six months' time by those European merchants. I often heard of manufacturers that would go so far as to give a year's credit. Notwithstanding all these advantages which our competitors offer, our exports, I venture to say, this year will not fall much short of the British in some manufactured articles. I am sending back quotations for some goods which heretofore have been going to that market almost exclusively from Europe. Not until I have the orders will I mention what they are, for I mean to surprise many by sending, in some cases, such amounts as have never been shipped to the Argentine Republic."

We don't know how recently this gentleman was here, but how any one leaving here much after December, 1896, could say that the business outlook of the country was encouraging, is beyond our comprehension. We have no idea who he is, but perhaps his desire to ship larger amounts of certain lines of goods than have ever been shipped here, as expressed in the last few lines quoted, made him view things though gold-coloured glasses. With the short crops on account of the locusts, with wool almost a drug in the market, with collections almost or quite impossible in large and important sections of the country and extremely difficult here in the city, with a marked decrease of traffic on most of our railways, with many of our best business houses asking for extensions of credit, and with the Commercial Judge granting a year's "moratoria" in many cases brought before him, the business outlook is far from bright for the present.

NOTES FROM CHIVILCOY.

May 5th, 1897.

Dear STANDARD,

The camps of this district are, I am happy to say, in "statu quo," and live-stock in general are in a condition calculated to cheer the worthy and industrious owners thereof.

Until very lately our esteemed stock-owners and their indefatigable "peones" had been sadly annoyed by "the cursed scab" in their flocks, by means of which they had been deprived of many a "mate amargo." However, our jolly and gentle shepherds should remember that without a little labour there is but little to be gained, and that we cannot all have every advantage in this life.

It is with pleasure I note that the lambing is progressing favourably, and that there is every hope of our sheep farmers being able to señal a good increase in their flocks this year.

We have had the pleasure of a friendly visit from Jack Frost already, and there have appeared on the stage a considerable number of last winter's quilted petticoats, overcoats, etc., etc. During the past few days, however, said garments were wisely dispensed with.

The quasi-total failure of the maize crop and the disasters caused by the memorable armies of "hopping devils" have, it is said, induced many people to tread the path of dishonesty who would otherwise be employed in the chacras. In truth, there is a regular epidemic of illegal "meum et tuum" business raging here (and presumably elsewhere) at present. These petty thieves reject nothing that is by any means portable; they are stealing pigs, sheep, poultry, harness, oilskin suits, ropes, blocks, "baldes sin fondos", and I know not what else.

We can none of us deny that the poor "chacareros" have had a most remarkably hard and discouraging time of late. Nevertheless, it is truly gratifying to know that a few of the more charitable landowners have vouchsafed to make some laudable concessions to their ill-starred Ligurian tenants. Indeed, not only have they given these distressed sons of sunny Italy time for the payment of the arrears of camp rent, but they have also advanced them cash with which to defray the expenses of tilling and sowing their chacras.

Long life to all such landowners!

Far be it from me to venture on any remark derogatory to that class of individual called "managers of respectable estancias", or to deny that the very word "mayordomo" at once brings before us associations connected with all that is truly noble, mild and considerate, generous and just.

I cannot refrain from saying that some of our English speaking brethren have of late years begun to swell the ranks of ungenerous "mayordomos" in this our lovely Queen Province!

A word to these would, be gentlemen! Oh! ye abject slaves of snobbishness! when will you cease your toadying? When will you begin your long neglected work of smoothing the relations between the "estancieros" and their struggling pueteros?" In short, when will you desist from trying your level best to convert fairly good 'estancias' into 'little hells upon earth?'

Now mind, this is not the first time that I have alluded to the glaring passion which some of those worthy 'managers of respectable estancias" have long since developed in this country for persecuting unfortunate and struggling 'puesteros'. Indeed, not very long ago this unlucky pen of mine got me into the shady graces of a swaggering and English speaking 'mayordomo' in the tranquil district of Mercedes. The first Sunday after the article appeared I was at the 'Hotel Nogues', where every man who pays 'al contado' is ever welcome. The swaggering 'mayordomo' was there, and he was giving his 'humble opinion' of me to four or five other swaggering gentlemen—presumably 'mayordomos tambien'. Not one of the admirable party knew me; therefore, it was my pleasant privilege to hear myself spoken of by swaggering gentlemen who were totally ignorant of the visible fact that I was sitting at a table directly opposite to that at which they were seated! Such is life.

I hear, and I am proud to hear, that the good people of Saladas will soon have a church in that thriving, populous and respectable portion of "la bella Argentina!"

By the way, I had almost forgotten to say that the ever considerate C. W. kindly vouchsafed to favour us with a most welcome dash of rain yesterday evening.

With regard to the "marching home" of our gallant National Guardsmen, I decline to report anything, because dabbling in jeremiads causes my head to ache.

A few days ago some 500 wethers changed hands in this vicinity. They were sold for invernada, and the prices were from $4.50 to $5.00 each. Buyers, Messrs. John Carrigy and Patrick Dillon; sellers, Messrs. Michael Ronan and James Dillon.

In the sheepskin business, too, there were a few sales effected here the other day. They were sold by the dozen, and the prices were: Consumos, $11.50 to $12.00; epidemias, $5.50 to $6 25.

W. H. G.

THE LATE DUC D'AUMALE.

Henri-Eugène-Phillippe-Louis d'Orléans, prince of the family of Orleans, born in Paris Jan. 16, 1822, the fourth son of the late king Louis-Philippe and his queen Marie, Amélie, was educated, like his brothers, in the Collège Henry IV., and at the age of seventeen entered the army. In 1840, he accompanied his brother, the Duke of Orleans, to Algeria, took part in the campaign which followed, returning to France in 1841, and completed his military education at Courbevoie. From 1842 to 1843 he was again in Algeria, where, at the head of the subdivision of Medeath, he conducted one of the most brilliant campaigns of the war, capturing the camp and all the correspondence of Abd-el-Kader, together with 3,600 prisoners and an immense treasure, for which service he was made a lieutenant-general, and appointed to the command of the province of Constantine. In 1844 he directed the expedition against Biskarah, and in the same year married Marie Caroline Auguste de Bourbon, daughter of Prince Leopold of Salerno, who was born April 26, 1822. She died at Twickenham, Dec. 6, 1869. In 1847 the Duke succeeded Marshal Bugeaud as Governor-General of Algeria, which position he filled upon the surrender of Abd-el-Kader to the French authorities. On receiving the news of the revolution of Feb., 1848, he resigned his command to General Cavaignac, and joined the ex-royal family in England. With his brother, the Prince de Joinville, he protested against the decree banishing his family from France, and afterwards resided chiefly in England, devoting himself to literary pursuits. At the beginning of 1861, a pamphlet, addressed by him to Prince Jérôme Napoleon Bonaparte, excited great sensation, and led to a species of political persecution by the French authorities, who condemned the printer and publisher of it to fine and imprisonment. The duke challenged Prince Napoleon Bonaparte, whose refusal to meet him excited great indignation in France. The same year the Literary Fund of London invited the duke to preside at their annual dinner, on which occasion his speech also excited attention. The Duc d'Aumale, who, as heir to the great house of Condé, possesses an ample fortune, owns a beautiful seat on the banks of the Thames, near Twickenham, and a fine estate in Worcestershire, where he formerly occupied his time as a practical agriculturist. He is also the owner of a superb collection of works of art, and lately bought from the family of Lord Dudley "The Three Graces," a little picture by Raphael, for the enormous price of 25,000 guineas. Shortly before the elections for the National Assembly on Feb. of 1871, the Duc d'Aumale, who, during the Franco-German war, had in vain sought permission to serve in the French army, addressed from London a proclamation to the electors of the Department of the Oise, in which, while declaring his preference for a constitutional monarchy, he stated his willingness to bow to the national will, if a Liberal Republic were adopted as the form of government. His candidature was successful, but he did not return to France until after the law banishing the members of the Orleans family was repealed on June 8. He did not take his seat in the Assembly until Dec. 19, 1871. Previous to this, in Oct., 1871, he had been chosen President of the Council-General of the Oise. He was elected a member of the French Academy, Dec. 30, 1871, by 27 votes against 1, in succession to the illustrious Montalembert. The Duke d'Aumale was nominated a General of Division, March 10, 1872, and in this capacity he presided over the Council of War before which Marshal Bazaine was arraigned. At the elections for the Assembly in Feb., 1876, the Duc d'Aumale declined to come forward again as a candidate in order that he might devote his undivided attention to his military command. The first two volumes of his "Histoire des Princes de la Maison de Condé," appeared in 1869, and were translated into English by Mr. Robert Brown-Borthwick. The Duc d'Aumale was elected a member of the Academy of Fine Arts, Feb. 14, 1880. His eldest son, Louise-Philippe-Marie-Leopold d'Orléans, Prince de Condé, born in 1845, died in June, 1866. His second son, François-Louis-Marie-Philippe d'Orléans, Duke of Guise, was born at Twickenham, Jan. 5, 1854, and died in France, July 25, 1872. After the passing of the Bill of Expulsion against the head of his family, the Duc d'Aumale was struck off the French Army List by the Minister of War, General Boulanger, and withdrew from France. Much sensation was caused soon afterwards by the publication of some letters, in which the same General, on his promotion, had effusively thanked "Monseigneur" for his good offices. Soon after he had left France, it was discovered that he had given his château of Chantilly, with all the priceless treasures it contained, to the Institute, in trust for the French nation. The decree banishing the duke from France was revoked in March, 1889, and the Duc returned to Chantilly, in which he had reserved a life interest for himself. The same month he was elected President of the French Academy for three months. In 1891 he was made Hon. D.C.L. of Oxford. In 1889 appeared vol. v. of his history of the "Princes de Condé."—"Men of the Time."

COLONEL NUÑEZ IN BUENOS AIRES.

Colonel Nuñez, one of the leading factors in the Blanco Revolution and who was recently reported to have perished under the assassin's knife, is alive and well and arrived in this city a couple of days ago. The Colonel was almost immediately interviewed by a newspaper reporter and the conversation was solely on the Revolution and the reasons which prompted this chief to sever his connection with the uprising. Col. Nuñez stated that he was forced to publish the manifesto drawn up in Yaguaron because he could no longer agree with his colleagues who appeared determined to let him shift for himself and render him no assistance either by giving him men or money. He now firmly believes that the rising of the Blancos is a complete failure, and the revolutionists are themselves greatly to blame for this disastrous result, brought on by the petty quarrels, jealousies and ambitions of their leaders and the want of proper support. Nuñez speaks in bitter terms against the appointment of Lamas to the post of Chief of the Staff of the rebel Army, and considers this officer to be a mere recruit (!) He also protests against the way he was treated by the members of the Revolutionary Junta, who ordered him to embark for the Uruguayan coast in an old barge with 500 men and only 20,000 cartridges of the 300,000 which the junta had.

The report spread that Aparicio Saravia had 2,700 men, 4000 horses arms, ammunition etc. is utterly false: he only had 1400 hundred men at the battle of Tres Arboles. When Nuñez was sent to Artigas to receive arms and ammunition he found nothing, and a neighbouring "pulpero" offered him a miserable $30, which the Chief indignantly refused to accept. This is all the assistance he ever received from the Revolutionary Committee reported to have received large sums of money from wealthy estancieros. Nuñez expresses his regret that the remains of the gallant 1st and 2nd Cazadores escaped after the battle of Tres Arboles. He proposed to pursue the remnants of these regiments but Lamas would not listen to this proposal on any ground. It may be gathered from the tenor of other remarks made by Nuñez that Saravia and Lamas are on good terms and stick together, Nuñez states that Borda's troops have had sufficient time and the necessary elements to crush the Revolution, but that his Generals appear quite at sea, and do not pull together.

Going back to the famous battle of "Tres Arboles" Nuñez states that the rebels lost 93 men.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

The applause accorded last night to Frank Brown's troupe was as great as if it had been the first appearance of the Company. Mr. Loyal, in his Jockey art has improved considerably and was recalled three times. The Nagel family, also, had to appear many times in response to the calls that followed their very clever feats, whilst with regard to the duettists Vargas and Bisaccia, the audience seemed to be never tired of them. Frank Brown and Paco Busto were at their very best, and the ever-welcome Water Pantomime concluded a most successful "Noche de moda".

The performance to-night promises to be the grandest affair of the season. From the bookings the theatre will be crammed to excess and the fund of the Police and Firemen of the Capital should benefit considerably.

Another new piece "Maniobras Militares" was produced at the Comedia last night and was well received by the large audience present. The music throughout is very taking and affords good opportunities for Sta. Lamana and Sr. Tapias. Another piece "La Madre Abadesa" continues to be most successful and is remarkably well interpreted by Sra. Irene Alba and Sra. Galé. Both pieces will be repeated to-night.

At the Victoria the new piece "Los Conscriptos" is most successful, and takes the public taste all the more because it treats of the mobilization of the National Guards. Among the chief musical items in the piece, must be mentioned a pretty romance sung by the tenor Sr. Maristany, and a charming duet for Stas. Castro and Marin.

To-night they give Cavalleria Rusticana.

(From our own Correspondent.

May. 7th.

The Chamber of Deputies met to-day. Mr. Eduard Saenz was elected President of the Chamber, Mr. Ramon Mendez 1st Vice-President and Dr. Nicanor Basavilbaso 2nd Vice-President. The House then rose.

The Department of Engineers reports to the Minister of Public Works that the Southern Railway has not yet constructed some works necessary on their line from Olavarria to B. Blanca. The works should have been finished last March.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was a rousing day. Everything, or nearly everything hummed. The opening of Congress, the fresh defeat of the Greeks, the renewed fighting in Banda Oriental, the Lottery "y otras yerbas" contributed to keep the public steam going from bath-time in the morning till bed-time at night. We have seen larger numbers in Congress Hall at the opening of a session. The Message did not excite any "entusiasmo frenetico" on the part of those who heard it read. Not to crush everything else out of our columns, we only give the exordium and financial chapter to-day, and will knock the windiness out of and publish the rest to-morrow. The poor Greeks are now driven to their third line of defence, and it is high time for them to think of making peace. The state of affairs in Athens is such that King George's crown and life seem in danger.

Our brother Editor, Mr. M.G. Mulhall, has just written a very interesting book entitled "Sixty Years of the Queen's Reign", and when we get a copy we shall make extracts from it. In the coming winter Mr. M. G. Mulhall will go to Rome, to act as First Chamberlain to the Pope for a certain time.

This is kissing day in Italian at the Central Station, as our esteemed friend Commodore Olivari starts with his crack steamer the Duca di Galliera, and expects to be in Genoa in 18 days. We say "bon voyage" to him and all his passengers.

The Interventor in San Luis has put Governor Berrondo again into power, and there is the D-l and Tom Walker to pay. The people are said to be all in favour of Guiñazu, and the whole precious mess appears to be more complicated than ever; but, fortunately, no general row has been commenced yet.

When everybody thought the White Rose flare-up in B.O. dead and buried, it suddenly turned up again yesterday in the shape of another licking inflicted on that doughty warrior General Villar by Colonel Lamas, at a place called Corrales, in Paysandú. The Government forces had to run for their lives, and lost all their artillery and ammunition. See particulars of the fight in another column.

The crushing defeat of the Greeks at Pharsalus, reported in our telegrams yesterday, is a terrible blow for the little kingdom. The excitement in Athens an so high when the news of the disaster was made known, that the Royal family were in fear of being murdered. Another defeat and King George will have to abdicate. Prince Constantine is said to have personally directed the artillery during the battle, and the guns did terrible work, but the Turkish artillery was irresistible. The fight was an uneven one; the Turks being 50,000, while the Greeks numbered only 20,000. In all 4000 Turks and Greeks were killed. The Greek army has fallen back on Damoko, whence no doubt it will soon be dislodged.

The Ilustracion Sud-Americana's last issue contains very two good portraits, to wit Simon Bolivar and General Perez B. O. War Minister, with enough gold lace about him to start a military tailor's shop. The general sketches are interesting.

Oh! "Absit omen." This session of Congress promises to be worse in the no-quo line than last. Yesterday, President Uriburu had to wait from 3 o'clock till 4, with his hat and gloves on and his Message in his pocket, while a quorum of the Deputies was being whipped in. When he reached Congress Hall, he was received by the Reception Committees; exterior Messrs Galvez, Igarzabal, Avellaneda, Canton and del Pino: interior, Messrs Garcia, Mendoza, Demarchi, Villanueva, and E. Mitre. The President read in a monotonous, low tone the opening and closing parts of the Message, and the Secretary all the rest. It was listened to in complete silence both the "barra" and the law makers, with a bare excuse for applause at the end. In fact there was n't a spark of life or go in the whole dreary ceremony: nobody's heart was in it.

A number of University students who sympathise with the Cross against the Crescent are getting up a grand Civic Procession in favor of the new Centro Filo-Helenico.

The holders of the following numbers in yesterday's Lottery were so intent on their own pecuniary affairs that they paid no attention whatever to the stirring events of the day:—10128, $100,000; 2897, $15,000; 20729, 5,000; 11704, 2,000; 19454, 22854, 13418, 5888, 7950, 6319, 5438, 16818, 19539, 2283, 3478, 9690, $1000; 10409, 14539, 22902, 16568, 11480, 4135, 1697, 10515, 22306, 12741, 19095, 15278, 5718, 8360, 15318, 21572, 22210, 17775, 12909, 1568, 21124, 15773, 12960, $500; 18290, 12800, 14462, 22339, 4163, 2830, 1102, 13415, 20905, 18161, 11543, 2245, 3819, 3103, 21839, 17118, 21837, 11948, 2647, 4871, 4821, 21807, 11202, 14475, 15410, 1405, 3855, 8658, 16089, 5309, 2201, 2539, $200.

The extraordinary spectacle of a "star" danseuse performing a leading part in a ballet clad in deep mourning was witnessed in an Italian theatre a short time ago. The ballerina, in spite of the recent death of her brother, took part in the first portion of the performance dressed entirely in white, save for a large black bow on her corsage. During the interval she changed this attire for one of black, with sombreness quite unrelieved, and her appearance in the trappings and the suits of woe was, it seems, greeted most sympathetically by the impressionable spectators

Our highly esteemed German contemporary the Deutsche La Plata Zeitung published yesterday a vigorous article on the indictment of the Fiscal, Dr. Ibarguren in the Wanklyn murder case. Our colleague very properly denounces it as monstrous, and declares that the learned lawyer, instead of prosecuting, is absolutely defending the murderer. That's a fact, and the reverse of a creditable one.

Shocking news from Neuquen: twelve square leagues of the most magnificent forest in the country reduced to ashes, and all because the Chilians have a nasty habit of clearing forest land for cultivation by setting it on fire instead of felling the trees, and this time the blaze crossed the frontier, with the result above stated, and a loss of millions of dollars for this country.

Prince Ranjitsinjhi, the cricketer, appears as one of the articles on the free list in the New South Wales tariff. He is going to visit that country with an English team next year, and has been excepted by name from the penalties of a bill imposing a tax of one hundred pounds on all colored aliens that land in the colony. The bill is intended to exclude Hindoos, Chinese, and Japanese from Australia.

When J.M. Barrie, the Scotch novelist, visited Smith College during his recent American tour, he was asked by one of the girls to write in her autograph-album. His contribution has since become the permanent college conundrum. It was this pregnant piece of advice: "Beware of a pale woman with a large appetite."

Nestled among the fierce monarchies of Europe are several quiet little republics that enjoy the blessing of free government. The republic of St. Martin has eight thousand inhabitants; Andorra, six thousand; Moresnet, the smallest of all, on the frontier between Germany and Belgium, twelve hundred inhabitants, who carry on important industries.

The war correspondent of the London Daily Mail describes Thursday's battle on the classic plains of Thessaly as "a sublime spectacle." The Greeks fought splendidly, but, like the French at Woerth were so terribly out-numbered—50,000 to 20,000—that they had to retreat. Meanwhile, that unfortunate commander Prince Constantine, was telegraphing to his Royal Papa that "With the help of God the Greeks will win." No, Your Royal Highness, Voltaire knew better than you, and he once said, blasphemously "Le bon Dieu est toujours du cote des gros batallions."

"Now, ladies who bike, read the following paragraph and say what you would do if the Argentine Government were to take you in hand in similar fashion to the French:—"The paternal character of the French Government is amusingly exemplified in one of the rules of the Bicycle Touring Club of France, which, of course bear the stamp and seal of the minister of the interior. No woman, either French or foreign, can become a member or tour unless furnished with a declaration, notarially witnessed and signed by her father or husband, to the effect that she has permission."

A most interesting feature of "The Poet Laureate in Song and Story" at the entertainment of the Epworth League next Tuesday night at the American Church will be the music. Both before and after the lecture by Professor Hutton songs from Tennyson and Longfellow will be given. Some singers will be heard for the first time in Buenos Aires. One of these is Mrs. De Grys a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music, who also spent two years in England in the special study of Oratorio. Her voice is a soprano of rare power and sweetness. Rev. W. F. Rice of Lomas will take the tenor solos. Mr. Henry R. Storer, of Flint, Eddy and Co., third Vice-President of the League, will be chairman of the evening. Admission will be free by ticket. Tickets can be had of the members of the League and at the American Church. A collection will be taken for the British and American Benevolen Society.

The telegrams from the Transvaal yesterday show that we were about right last week when we advised Uncle Paul Kruger to lather his chin, and prepare to be shaved. The Governor at the Cape has called out the Reserves, and in the military clubs in London it is an open secret that there will be 35,000 red-coats in South Africa before this year of Grace is very much older. They are not going there for nothing; and the war between Greece and Turkey will be succeeded by another with a far wider issue at stake, viz., the future dominion of England over the whole of the Dark Continent, minus the French possessions.

There is another nice lecture at the Colmena Artistica to-night when Mr. Lasso de la Vega will lasso that most interesting subject, Painting in the 17th and 18th centuries.

We have received an inquiry respecting the value of a genuine Mulready envelope. We have an idea that £50 was recently mentioned as its worth in England; but probably, one of our numerous philatelist friends can give a definite answer.

Who is to be the new Minister of War? That is the great question in military circles. It is very probable that President Uriburu will allow some days to pass before filling the vacancy, in order to sound the opinion of Congress, with a view of avoiding disputes and interpellations. We may add that in Congress there is a general opinion in favor of Deputy, General Godoy, so that we place our stakes on him. It has been said that the President is very reticent and that he consults no one, but we may say, without indiscretion, that Gen. Bartolomé Mitre is his adviser, and for that matter has been ever since the President was installed.

The fall in the thermometer on Thursday night and again yesterday caused another piercing wail of woe from the unfortunate C.S. passengers, doomed to suffer from all the elements in turn, without a particle of shelter being allowed them, thanks to the inhumanity of that good and most amiable gentleman, Dr. Quirno Costa. If there be any truth in the old superstition that when people are speaking badly of any person, his ears become hot, then those of the Minister of the Interior must be permanently in a blaze, as what is daily said of him as a Minister by the suffering passengers at the C. S. is most decidedly the reverse of complimentary or pleasant.

FIRST RING..... 192.30
SECOND RING..... 192.00

Things were rather uneventful this morning on 'Change. If anything, gold was a trifle firmer, owing to covering operations being continued, but the feeling is still for a fall and the market heavy. It will be a matter of days at least before the full effect of the Message wears out. If the price does not rally then, it will be a marvel, and will certainly encourage the belief that gold is dear at 300, which is not the opinion to-day; but unfortunately, the rally is only too probable to be left out of calculation, and the point will be where it will stop. Gold shipments are already spoken of, as if the move in this line had started, which is not correct, since the £20,000 boxed for the packet goes to Rio for account of a private bank with branch in that city. The amount is not of startling importance, nor the destination likely to foster apprehensions of further drains, but it is none the less significant as being the first swallow. On the other hand the bears have more heart since they learned of the "favorable" balance of trade, and replete state of the Argentine exchequer in London, talking pompously of the enormous crops coming, the gold reserve to be set afoot; but who is going to discount prospects for them with the winter at hand, and these prospects far off on the horizon? That is the question, an imperative question too. Unless there are some means of discounting the future gold must go up, perhaps not so alarmingly or stubbornly as some expect. Still the rise is almost a foregone conclusion, and will have to be reckoned with. So long as the market is supplied with exchange there should not be much change. The first big shipment of specie will tell its tale and mark the bearings.

The business in gold at the first hour shewed a decided shrinkage in volume, the total of sales being a bare ¾ million, which, for a day big with speculative interest, is decidedly meagre. Rates did not fluctuate much either, so that altogether the ring had a dull hour of it. Opening at 291.30, the price dropped gradually to 290.70, and then swerving rather violently, rushed up, to close at 292.30, which was also the rate after the hour. For June there was little or no interest, and stocks could hardly be flatter, though National Cedulas shew a very bold front, which looks as if there were really orders out to purchase, as was reported.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

$ 242,000 cash at 291.30-291-290.70--291-290.80-291-291.30--291.50--80-60-292-292.10-292.20-292-292-20-292.30.

With regard to exchange our matutinal colleague La Prensa is of opinion that we may be prepared at any moment to find francs or marks en route for Europe, as it would pay to ship, though sterling would have still to drop to make it remunerative. It is a very open question. Brokers who have the run of the market and calculate profits very closely, do not share our colleague's opinion. They think that francs would have to fall say a centime still to make shipping pay, and as, with two of the principal packets leaving to-day and to-morrow, rates have held up the actual prospects of specie shipments are not immediate. That the shipments are bound to come, we agree with our colleague in thinking inevitable, as the banks will in all probability ship to relieve the market, but we may state at the same time that many parties in touch with the movements of trade requirements think the market will be able to pull through without aid, basing their views on the Government requiring nothing till the Spring and comercial demands being almost nil. The wind is tempered to the shorn lamb. So far, these optimists have the best of the argument, as gold is a drug, and exchange not to say firm, but certainly not toppling.

There was nothing very stirring about exchange to-day. Rates are unchanged, francs passed on Paris at 4.98 francs and sterling at 47 9/16d. Cable transfers at 47¼d. We quote—

London—47 9/16d.
Paris—4.98 fcs.
Antwerp—4.99 fcs.
Hamburg—4.06 marks

Discounts were at a stand-still to-day, rates without change at 6 % gold and 7 to 8% paper.

The Message of course was the absorbing topic to-day, but though it was very avidly discussed, it did not seem to make any very pronounced impression, the general opinion being that the finances if not glowing, are satisfactory, which is all that could be expected with the heavy demands on the revenue and the straitened resources. As might be expected, where the Message really told is in the vista it opens up of what the country is capable of with a favorable year and good harvests.

There is a decided diversity of opinion as to the figure at which the new Uruguayan 6% loan can be placed. Some say 80%, others 45%, as maximum, whilst a good many think it will not go at all, as things on the other side are the reverse of flourishing and capitalists are never in pressing haste to put up money for military expenses. Then the Custom Returns, which were expected to shew such wonderful elasticity, are of course going to the dogs, shewing every month a more marked falling off. In the seven months past there has been a decline of over 1¼ million gold dollars as compared with previous corresponding period. This will not help the new loan along, and no matter how fair a face the Government may be able to shew, capitalists will be very slow pledging Poor Uruguay to any further service till the way is much clearer.

Mr. E. Muñoz, a 'tendero' in Calle Independencia, has made a very poor show with his balance-sheet, which smacks strongly of wholesale smash in retail business. The assets barely eke out $31,619, whilst the liabilities are acknowledged at $65,271. We should add that in the assets cash in hand is represented ignobly by $12.24 and goods at $8787, so that there is a noble difference to set off for bad and doubtful debts.

There is not one, but at least half a dozen screws loose in our judicial system. Judge Amuchastegui put his finger on one a few days ago, when he cut down a lawyer's bill about 60 per cent, to save creditors in bankruptcy, whilst here is another which puts a ludicrous aspect on the procedure in vogue. A trader in a small way was declared bankrupt. The usual "tramites" were gone through and possession ordered by the Court, but when the bailiffs went to take possession they found that the intelligent bankrupt had sold off his stock, handed over the keys to the owner of the property, and was only a tradition in the "barrio." As a rider to this, we see that Dr. Amuchastegui has now before him a bill for $40,000 presented by the syndic's lawyer of the Metropolitana, the statement shewing 600 pleadings ("escritos"). Anyone aware of what a mountain of foolscap 600 "escritos" means, will readily admit that the charge is not exorbitant, and thus the assets are swallowed up in legal fees and retainers alone. If these are not loose screws, it is about time the proper name was put to them, and high time the tightening began.

A very substantial improvement is shown in the accounts of the Buenos Aires and Ensenada Port Railway for the past year. The net receipts totalled 105,047l. against 88,440l, and after paying prior charges a balance of 51,623l. is left. The number of passengers carried is larger than in any year since 1889, the total exceeding 2,000,000. The tonnage of goods has not increased in the same ratio as in the previous year, but, having regard to the failure of the wheat crop, may be deemed fairly satisfactory; the number of tons carried (716,859) is the highest on record. A dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the ordinary stock has been declared.

Next month the Southern railway will commence the construction of the branch line from Saladillo to Bolivar.

The last Census of the Province of Mendoza shows that the population of the vineyard of the Republic has increased 79% from 1869 to 1895. Out of a total population of 116.173 28,602 belong to the city. Four thousand five hundred and fifty one of these are foreigners and the rest Argentines. The vineyards occupy an area of 15,246 hectareas whilst the different business concerns number 437, and the number of commercial houses is 1449. very respectable figures which show how fast this Province is going ahead

Advices from Uruguay report that colonists there have ploughed up their land and are otherwise preparing to plant the seed promised to them. They have great hope that the future will bring them better times as a consolation for the losses they have sustained during past years. The "Tristeza" is still playing havoc in the herds. Everything possible to stem the evil is being done by farmers, but the disease still appears to hold its own.

The new butter factory in Tandil is expected to start working within the next few days, and the "empresario" is now put to the pin of his collar in getting the neighbouring "tamberos" to supply the milk necessary to make the butter. This is a very difficult business, as the prolonged drought has reduced all the cows to mere skeletons. Still he is hopeful that the milk will be forthcoming in time

A lot of 3000 cows has been sold by Mr. Pradere in Santa Tomé at $24 per head, sent to Uruguay. These cows are for breeding purposes.

The new branch of the National Bank in Bragado is now open to the public. The following is the staff of employeés: manager: Ernesto del Cerro, Accountant: José F. Bustos, Treasurer: Juan M. Terro. The following comprise the local Board: Felix Martinez, Mariano Ibarra, Maximo Fernandez, Mariano F. Biaus, Antonio Cambaceres and Segundo Arza.

Advices from Ayacucho report that the late rain has improved camps, though more is still required. A sale is reported of 25 cows at $32 to 38 per head.

The Bolsa King, who is a notorious, rampant bull, though now with a leaning the other way, said that half a crop would be sufficient to send the premium down 100 points, and the group applauded his words. But in spite of the optimism the Message breathes, exhales at every pore, it cannot hide the grim features of the situation, and if the market is too poverty-stricken for the moment to face the music and create the demands that might naturally be expected, on the other hand it is assuredly not in a position to discount the future, or at least if it does so, it will be passively waiting on brighter times to fill up the furrows.

We call the attention of our readers to the inauguration of the monster establishment of Messrs. Erausquin and Cano in Merlo, which comes off on Sunday next, the 9th May. From a glance at the catalogue we notice that many well-known estancieros from the provinces have sent their animals there for sale, the first auction beginning on Sunday after a "modest" lunch. Interested parties can get return-tickets free on application at the auctioneers' office in Calle Defensa 127, upstairs, or at the Once Station. Special train leaves here at 9.15 p.m.

As we predicted in the month of January already the corralon business is going to the dogs-straight. The sale is reported, last week, of 500 boxes corrugated Iron at $8 gold the 100 kilos. delivered. Could any of our importing houses tell us if the business leaves a loss, or if the seller gets his money back?

The Message had little influence on the gold market, as at the second hour the rate opened and closed at 292, rather firm than otherwise, though dealers report the undercurrent still setting downwards. As high as 293 was done, and after the hour the rate remained over at 292½ sellers, but the marked feature is apathy, and the meagre speculation there is, is for a rise. A helpless, dull market is generally a prey for the "Cambistas", and they are now all on the rise, full of gold, yet unable to set rates spurting. Altogether it is a queer unhinged kind of situation on Change, and even the old hands the greybeards, seem unable to figure it out. Stocks were very dull, as usual, Catalinas as flat as a pancake, no buyers.

Produce brokers report the market as dull as ditchwater, next to nothing doing and everything down. Saladero business is almost nil, as though, of course, the saladeristas will have to slaughter the animals bought, they will restrict business as much as possible, since, as we remarked in our last issue, they are actually working at a loss. Wool is very heavy, dry hides down, and even cereals hanging, so that the produce movement is paralysed. The sales to-day are reported:

400,000 kilos wheat.
520,000 kilos maize.

Two important lawsuits have just been decided. The Federal Judge of Rosario has non-suited Don Tristan Malbran and others in an action brought to obtain possession of a big property in Santa Fé, Department Las Colonias, held by Messrs J. B. Iturraspe, Antonio L. Agrelo, Mendez Gonzalves and Bossi. The latter are confirmed in possession of the lands, and the claimants have to pay costs. The other case was decided in the Courts here, being an action brought by Mr. P. S. Cesar against Messrs A. Mantels and C. Bruger for recovery of certain sums advanced in part payment of a property bought by the Plaintiff with condition that the defendants were to effect the transference of the mortgage existing thereon. The latter was to amount of $300,000, but the Mortgage Bank refused to sanction the transfer, so that the Plaintiff refused to go on with the business. The judge has ruled against him.

KEATING'S
LOZENGES.
KEATING'S LOZENGES.
KEATING'S LOZENGES.
"A Simple Fact about" KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES. Ask through the world, in any country that can be named, you will find them largely sold. There is absolutely no remedy that is so speedy in giving relief, so certain to cure and yet the most delicate can take them.
"A TERRIBLE COUGH."
"A TERRIBLE COUGH."
"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12
"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the oporation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough it was so bad at times that it quite xhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL
UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.
UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.
The above speaks for itself. From strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Keating's Cough Lozenges is under stated. The operation was a specially severe one, and was performed by the specialist, Dr. H. I. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Since the operation the only means of relief is the use of these Lozenges. So successful are they that one affords immediate benefit although from the nature of the case the throat irritation is intense.
WEIGHT IN GOLD.
WEIGHT IN GOLD.
Under date Sept. 8th. 1891, Mr. Hill again writes:—"I should long since have been dead but for your Lozenges—they are worth their weigh in gold. I will gladly are and tell anyone what a splendid cough remedy they are."
Keating's Cough Lozenges, the unrivalled remedy for Coughs, Hoarseness, and Throat Troubles, are sold in Tins and Bottles by all Chemists.

GENERAL.

The German s s Corrientes from Hamburg was towed into the Grand Dock at La Plata this morning without previously receiving the visit of the Sanitary Officer. It appears that two tugs, the Linda Elisita and Lavalle, belonging to the firm of Lambuschini, steamed up to the Corrientes, waiting in La Plata Roads, and offered the captain to tow the vessel in. They had not gone very far when both tugs collided with the Corrientes and damaged her bow. However, after some delay they got the steamer into the Grand Dock. The Port Authorities were advised of what had occured, and search was made for the masters of the tugs but they could not be found. What induced the captain to accept their offer of tugging his vessel into port and thus violate quarantine regulations remains a mystery as also the whereabouts of the audacious masters. Fortunately the Corrientes did not call at any Brazilian port on her way out from Hamburg.

The Duca di Galliera is posted to leave La Plata to-morrow for Genoa and intermediate ports. A special train will leave the Central Station with her passengers at 1.20 p.m. the same day.

The Italian mail boat Nord America is is expected at Montevideo on Sunday next from Genoa and bound for La Plata.
